“Aerospace Corporation brings a cosmic income!”

The Boeing Company (#BA) – is an American aerospace corporation that manufactures aerospace, aviation and military equipment.

Boeing is one of the top three largest manufacturers of weapons and military equipment in the United States. This company is the largest employer in the northwest United States and exporter of the country. The Boeing Company is in the top 12 largest US industrial corporations. Market capitalization is $ 206.13 billion.

Boeing company was founded in 1916.

Reasons to buy Boeing shares in February:

- 1. Positive reporting and dividend increase. The Boeing Company (#BA) at the start of the year announced an increase in dividends on the asset repurchase program, quarterly dividends increased by 20%. At the same time, the asset redemption program amounted to $ 20 billion.

Against the background of a very optimistic profit forecast, this makes Boeing shares a very promising investment.

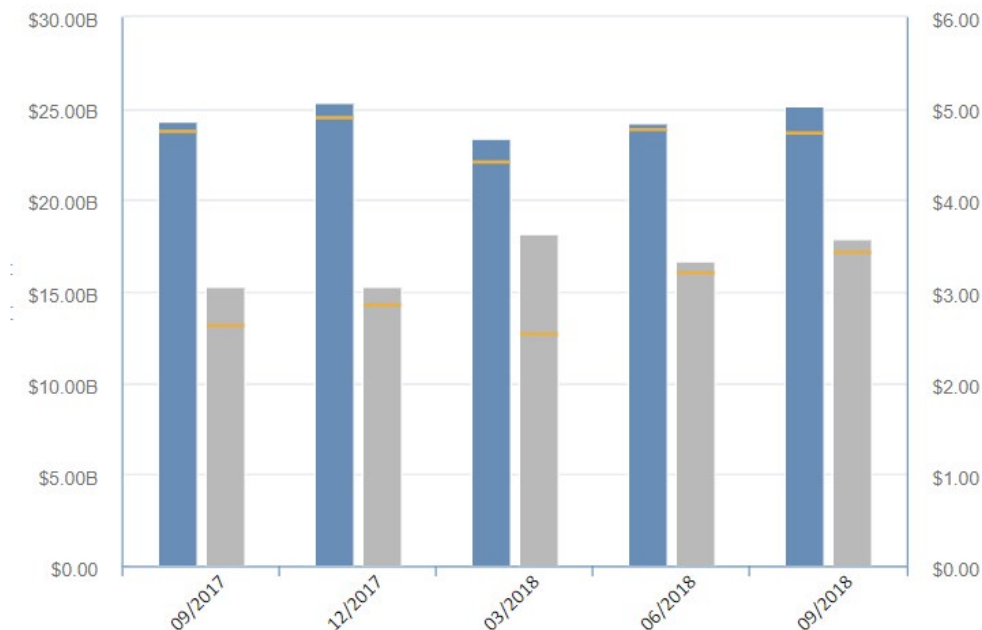

Fig. 1. The Boeing Company profitability chart. The blue column is revenue, the gray column is EPS, the orange line is the forecast.

Forecasts for company profit and earnings per share remain near the maximum values. Revenue - 26.88V, earnings per share - 4.57.

- 2. The growth of orders for aircraft Boeing. At the end of 2018, Boeing received a noticeable number of orders for such aircraft models as the Airbus and Boeing 737 MAX.

It will actually allow the company to close the annual report positively. Encouraging is the latest report of the company on deliveries and orders for aircraft, confirming the very positive market expectations.

3. Technical factors. Technically, Boeing shares also confirm the potential for growth on breaking through the downtrend of recent months and the formation of a “double bottom” pattern.
