

Investment idea:

“Hewlett-Packard shares are ready to close the gap, and we are ready to close the profits! Get connected!”

Hewlett Packard Enterprise

Hewlett-Packard (HP) #HPQ — is one of the world’s largest information technology companies. Hewlett-Packard provides hardware and software products for both large enterprises and private users. The company Hewlett-Packard (HP) is engaged, in addition to the production of computer equipment, the manufacture of measuring equipment, electronic medical equipment and equipment for chemical analysis.

Currently, Hewlett-Packard (HP) exists as two companies: HP Inc. and Hewlett Packard Enterprise. Subsidiaries: Aruba Networks, HP 3PAR, HP Enterprise Services, HP Software Division, Hewlett Packard (France), Hewlett-Packard (India), Hewlett-Packard Japan, Hewlett-Packard (Australia), HP Israel, Hewlett-Packard (Austria ), Hewlett Packard (United Kingdom), Hewlett Packard (Germany), Hewlett Packard (Canada), Hewlett Packard (Netherlands) and HP Japan.

The company was founded on January 1, 1936.

Reasons to buy Hewlett-Packard (HP) shares in May:

1. Positive profit expectations. HP shares have recently been very neutral in the market, while the profitability of this company has remained steadily upward. The quarterly report, which will be published on 23.05, also maintains a restrained upward dynamic.

The company's profit forecast of 13.95V, earnings per share $ 0.51.

Against the background of a general slowdown in the IT technologies, HP shares look very undervalued.

2. Active development of technology. Hewlett-Packard (HP) remains a major player in the information technology market, which, in turn, is actively developing in-depth AI training (artificial intelligence) to protect against viruses. HP is also introducing the new HP ZBook 14u and 15u thin and high-performance laptops.

3. Technical factors. Dynamics of HP shares in the current year remains downward, but at the same time significantly oversold, limited to the correction phase. An additional signal for growth is the possibility of closing the gap.

This is an excellent opportunity to purchase shares of Hewlett-Packard (HP). At the same time, the potential for upward dynamics remains significant.

General geopolitical risks and a weak corporate report of the company remain as the risk factors.
