Investment idea “Johnson & Johnson shares are growing again! Connect to an investment idea now!”, is trading in a flat despite all the clear signs of continued growth, limited to the key resistance level of 140.00-141.00. This investment idea ceases to exist due to the expiration of the basic term and the lack of prospects.

The nearly two-month Johnson & Johnson shares movement points to risks in the health sector. It is also confirmed by the Trump administration's intention to abandon Obamacare completely. At the same time, these actions behave more restrained than the rest of the sector, which is under pressure.

Expectations regarding quarterly earnings were fully justified, but they had a very restrained influence on the dynamics of Johnson & Johnson shares.
