Investment idea “Hewlett-Packard shares are ready to close the gap, and we are ready to close the profits! Get connected!” is closing due to the achievement of the final date, so without actually working out. Since most of the time to work out the idea comes to an end before June 30, and there are no signs of working out in conditions of growing risks.

Deals on this idea should be closed, despite the possibility of working out the “double bottom” pattern, which is likely to be limited.
